Human skeleton found by loggers

BY D.C. HARVILL Sheriff's investigators hope the Mississippi Crime Lab will be able to provide clues into the identity of human remains found in western Hancock County Tuesday afternoon. A logging crew from Alabama discovered the skeletal remains while cutting timber on land owned by International Paper Company adjacent to State Highway 607, according to Chief Sheriff's Deputy Delbert

Part of the skeleton was destroyed by machinery the logging crew had been using in their harvesting operation.

The crew determined the skeleton was human because they found the skull, according to Seay.

Investigators learned from the Mississippi Forestry Commission that the section of woods where the body was found had burned last year.

"The body was put there some time after the fire," Seay

Three pieces of clothing, a small Van Heusen shirt, Sans-A-Belt pants and a pair of men's briefs were found in the area where the remains were discovered.

They appear to be expensive pants and the shirt definitely was professionally launderedit was heavily starched. The person was of a small stature," Seay said.

Investigator Nathan Hoda and a group of jail trustees scoured the area Wednesday morning hoping to find more clues but were unsuccessful.

"We really hoped to find shoes. They give you a better idea of how big the person was and sometimes they contain tags from where they were purchased." Hoda said.

Hoda's inclination is that the skeleton is that of a small man, but he said he cannot be certain until he gets the results from the crime lab.

According to Odom, Bunch died from massive trauma to the head, chest and abdomen. The fatal injuries likely occurred when he struck the pavement.

Tull was thrown into a ditch and suffered a broken hip, Odom said.

The pickup, driven by Wanda J. Tull of Pass Christian, was driving southbound when it was rear-ended by Rhodes.

Rhodes' car went into the lefthand ditch and the truck ran off the road into ditch on the opposite side of the highway.

Bunch's body was struck by a Underwood.

Bus collision results in treatment of 58 children

BY D.C. HARVILL

Nearly 60 children were treated and released at Hancock Medical Center after the collision of two full school buses in BaySide Park Monday afternoon.

"To our knowledge, none of the children were seriously injured. Most of them had bumps and bruises," according to Eddie Danzey, Hancock County School District's assistant superintendent in charge of transportation.

Eleven of the children were transported to the Medical Center by Mobile Medic. Others were taken to the hospital by their families, Danzey said.

As of Wednesday afternoon, 58 students had been examined at the hospital's emergency room as a result of the accident. according to an emergency room worker.

The two buses were traveling one behind the other along Hancock Drive when the second bus, driven by substitute driver Mary Hampton, rear-ended the bus in front of it.

The brakes must have gone out. He'd just let off some kids and was stopping again. I hit the brakes but they didn't work, then they locked up and we hit him. They've been having trouble with this bus," Hampton said at the scene.

As word spread about the accident, spectators and concerned parents of the more than 120 students crowded the Four Mobile Medic units responded to the scene. Members of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Waveland Police and Fire Departments and BaySide Park Fire Department assisted with evaluation of the children and crowd and traffic control.

"Our investigation indicates that the brakes were working. We tested them and they were fully functional.

There were skid marks 22-feet long at the scene and a witness behind the bus said the brake lights came on and stayed on. There was no indication that she pumped the brakes like she said," said Bill Pepperman, the deputy in charge of investigating the accident.

According to the deputy, the regular driver said he had never had any problems with the bus. The witness said the bus could not have been going more than 20 miles per hour, Pepperman said.

Hampton will be charged with following too closely, according to the deputy.

No action has yet been taken against her by the school system, according to Danzey.

We will have to wait until the investigation is completed," he said.

St. Stanislaus band asked to play for President Bush

He said a member of the committee planning the entertain-ment portion of the ceremony surrounding Bush's arrival happened to be the mother of a St. Stanislaus band member.

Montero said the committee member informed him, upon issuing the invitation, that St. work." When President George Stanislaus was the only nonpublic school band perform.

"It's a marvelous coincidence or happenstance, as far as we're concerned," Montero added.

"The whole thing had to be done on very short notice. When we first heard about the possibility on Thursday or Friday, the band students immediately began asking if they'd be allowed to go."

Local state employees to form SEAM chapter

BY DENA BISNETTE

A meeting concerning the reactivation of an inactive Hancock County Chapter of State Employees Association of Mississippi (SEAM) has been set for 5:30 p.m. Monday at the Mississippi Power Company building on US-90.

Speakers are expected to include Ian Shearer, regional director for SEAM, and State Representative J.P. Compretta. State Senator Gene Taylor has been invited but is not expected to attend due to the impending run-off election for the Fifth District congressional seat.

Dues for SEAM are $18 per year and some agencies offer payroll deduction.

Anyone interested in joining the association who can not attend should contact Judy Yarborough at the Hancock County Health Department, 467-4510, or at 467-6387.

According to Wallace Brad-ley, one of the organizers of the meeting, "SEAM is not a union." Bradley said there is a union forming but that it is a separate organization. Celeste Proulx, who is also involved in the SEAM project, explained that SEAM is a professional organization designed primarily to improve the lot of state employees. The present projects include improving pay and mileage compensation levels to make them more comparable to those in private industry. She added that a SEAM chapter is needed in the county because more than 100 people here are employed in state jobs. "If you receive a payroll check from the State of Mississippi, you need to be interested in it,' Proulx said.

Since 1975, SEAM has supported and obtained unlimited accrual in both annual leave and sick leave and increases in mileage compensation rate from 12 cents to 15 cents to the present 20 cents. The organization has also opposed legislation requiring all employees to take 10 days annual leave without pay and opposed a 1986 move that would have cut all state employee salaries by five percent across the board as a costsaving measure designed to boost Mississippi's economy.

SEAM is presently supporting an eight-point legislative package which deals with funding of a variable compensation plan, insurance, representation on the State Personnel Board Advisory Council and retirement benefits. Salaries are the biggest issue, according to Yarborough, Bradley and Proulx. The aver-SEAM—Page 5A

Farm Bureau to reward volunteer firefighters across the state will be rewarded financially for their efforts under a new program introduced by Mississippi's Farm Bureau insurance companies. Departments will be paid up to $100 for their responses to fires involving property insured by those companies.

According to program guidelines, departments actually involved in extinguishing structural fires will receive $100 for each fire. If a volunteer department responds, but does not take part in fighting a fire, it will receive $50.

Payments will be made only for responses by volunteer fire departments to structural fires located outside of an incorporated area.

Calling the payment program an investment in better fire protection for all rural residents, Don Waller, president of the 168,000 member Mississippi Farm Bureau, said, "Government funding provided our volunteer fire departments must be spent on equipment purchases, leaving the firefighters responsible for maintenance and operating expenses. Farm Bureau feels this program will remove some of the pressure on those dedicated volunteers to go out and raise funds for their departments' day to day operations."

Volunteer fire departments supporter of rural fire departments, developed this program as a means of strengthening rural fire protection and to help reduce the high level of rural fire losses.

> "While homeowners would like to see a reduction of insurance premiums, that can happen only after insurance companies see a reduction of fire losses through better fire protection. We feel this program can promote and contribute to improved protection by helping the volun-teer departments," the Lafayette County cotton and timber farmer stated.

Preston Gough, state manager and vice president of the Farm Bureau Insurance Companies, said almost 120,000 Farm Bureau policy holders would benefit from improved protection. Gough indicated that the payment program would also help focus some much deserved recognition on the men and women serving in the volunteer departments across the state.

"The spirit of volunteerism is an important element in this country's greatness, and as an organization built on that same spirit, Farm Bureau is proud to recognize those people for their contributions to the safety of our members and of all rural families," Gough stated.

The Farm Bureau program has been praised by the State Insurance Commissioner George Dale and the State Fire Coordinator Ray Gildea.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Thad Cochran

A House and Senate conference committee has approved an appropriations bill with an overall $1.4 billion increase in funding for education programs for Fiscal Year 1990.

Senator Thad Cochran, a member of the conference committee, noted that Mississippi will benefit from spending in several important programs.

The $24.2 billion funding package passed Thursday is for the programs administered by the U.S. Department of Education.

The Chapter I program for educationally disadvantaged children, is funded at $5.4 billion, almost $1 billion over Fiscal Year 1989 funding. Mississippi will receive nearly $100 million, an increase of nearly 25 percent over Fiscal Year 1989 funding levels. Cochran successfully urged

A free press: Democracy's forum

"A free press is not a privilege but an organic necessity in a great society. Without criticism and reliable and intelligent reporting, the government cannot govern. For there is no adequate way in which it can keep itself informed about what the people of the country are thinking and doing and wanting."

These words by Walter Lippman, noted American columnist and author, succinctly express the theme of National Newspaper Week 1989.

We could add also, and with emphasis, that the function of a free press in a free society is to keep the public informed about what its elected officials are thinking and doing, and how well they are doing it. That is the basis of our newspapers' unique protection afforded by the First Amendment—so that they can provide adequate, accurate, reliable information, facts and analysis to permit the people to make intelligent decisions, to judge the effectiveness of government policies and programs, and to express their opinions in open forum.

In drafting our First Amendment the founding fathers recognized that without the right of a free press—a free forum to speak our minds, to publish our criticism and opinions—all other rights and liberties would be endangered. We are deeply indebted to the foresight and wisdom which have preserved those rights and liberties for more than 200 years.

But beyond the indispensable role newspapers play in the functioning of our democratic system, they play an important role in our everyday lives. As the leading U.S. advertising medium they help to sustain the economic vitality of our communities and of the nation. They help us make intelligent choices between products, programs, people and life styles. They provide schedules and advice to plan and execute our increasingly busy workday, as well as our leisure time. And they analyze, instruct, educate and interpret to help us cope with the increasingly complex issues we face in our daily lives.

Those of us who are privileged to be a part of the vital role newspapers play in our democracy recognize the many responsibilities engendered in the privileges granted by our First Amendment. In fulfilling those responsibilities we must continually strive to improve our product and its distribution. We must continue to provide our readers and advertisers the services they want and need to fully participate in our democratic

And we must remain constantly vigilant in protecting the peoples' right of a free press; democracy's forum-to ensure that we all remain free and flourishing.

'Training Our Work Force' critical to southern states

It was an honor recently to be named chairman of the Southern Governors Association during its annual meeting in Wilmington, Del. But the honor really goes to Mississippi because it gives us a great opportunity to show the South what we can do.

Mississippi will play a key role in shaping the agenda for the association over the coming year. Our theme, "Training Our Work Force," will be one of critical importance to every southern state and every southern community. Part of work force training is making sure our children graduate from school with the tools necessary to compete in a quickly changing, technological world. That is the primary purpose for the program, "Mississippi's BEST—Better Education for Success Tomorrow," which is designed to give Mississippi a world-class system of education by the year 2001.

But there is nothing more basic than holding down a job for those already in the work force. It's what puts a roof over our heads, clothes on our backs and food in our mouths.

Seventy-five to 80 percent of the work force in the year 2001 is out of school right now. Studies indicate that in the 1990s, jobs will require significantly more years of school. In fact, by the start of the 21st Century, most new jobs will require some education beyond high school.

Part of work force training means increasing our efforts to increase adult literacy. One of the goals of Mississippi's BEST is to achieve a 90 percent adult literacy rate by the year 2001—up from the current 70 percent. I hope next year we can show the Southern Governors Association the kind of strong steps Mississippi will take to eradicate illiteracy among our

What we are really talking about is doing whatever it takes so that our citizens not only get job but keep a job.

We need to change the way we think about education because it doesn't just begin when the first school bell rings or ends with graduation ceremony. Education is a lifelong process, and the Southern Gov-

Today is Columbus Day

This day, Thursday, October 12, has been declared 'Columbus Day and commemorates one of the greatest days in the history of our world.

What was the date of Christopher Columbus' birth? Nobody knows for sure. Some historians say 1446 and others say 1451. We know that he was born in Genoa, Italy, and that in the year 1506 he died in Valladolid, Spain, He was born into a family of weavers, but he did not follow the traditional trade. CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Pass Christian Garden Club

The Pass Christian Garden Club held its second meeting of the fall season on Oct. 5 at the Hancock Bank Civic Center. Hostesses for the tea following the meeting were Miss Adele Bielenberg and

Mrs. Kay Chapman. Nancy Freeman, Extension home economist, Harrison County Cooperative Extension Service, gave a very informative talk on growing herbs such as chives, thyme and parsley in hanging baskets in or near the kitchen to have them readily accessible for seasoning purposes when cooking. She also offered instructions on growing all types of bulbs in pots as well as outside. It was reported that the club had participated in plantings to beautify the North Street Elementary School, and the assistance was very much appreciated. Several Boy Scouts have offered to work in the Wild Flower Garden on Menge Avenue to clean it up for the fall season. This will aid them in obtaining their Merit Badges. This garden is always open for the public to enjoy. An announcement was made that the Societe des Arbres has been taken over by the Garden Clubs of Mississippi and that the Pass Christian club will again start registering the large old trees in the area that measure ore than 36 inches in diameter. Anyone who has old trees of this size in the yard and would like to register them, is urged to contact the chairman at 452-9703 or 452-2103.

A complete report was given by the Pilgrimage chairman who announced that the Pass Christian Pilgrimage will be on March 29, 1990 and will include several beautiful homes in the area. The Flower Show chairman advised that there will be two workshop sessions on Thursday, Oct. 12, 9:30-11:30 a.m. and 1:30-3 p.m. These workshops will be at the Hancock Bank Civic Center and all interested members are urged to attend so the club once again has an outstanding Flower Show on April 26, 1990.

The next meeting will be Nov. 2 at the Hancock Bank Civic Center. The speaker will be Connie Rocko, Harrison County Beautification director, who will speak on "Litter Control and Beautification of Highways.'

Retired Public Employees

Walter R. Bivins of Jackson and Dr. J. J. Hayden of Pass Christian, chairman and vice chairman for county organization and membership of the Mississippi Retired Public Employees Association, respectively, at a meeting of Gulf Coast counties, expressed the need for a strong organization in all counties to preserve the trust funds and protect the interests and well being of present and future retirees.

Among those leaders from Hancock County attending were William H. Walker, Lucien Kidd and Clarence Ladner.

Bivins and Hayden, in a joint statement said: "Our trust funds have reached over $4 billion, and the temptation is great to borrow from or reach into these funds and use them for purposes contrary to the intent of the system and to the detriment of present and future retirees.

"We must not allow this to happen. The Constitutional amendment, Resolution 518, proposed by our association and adopted by Mississippi voters in 1986 by an 85 percent approval vote will aid material but of itself will not fully protect our "More than 30 bills were introduced in the last legislative session affecting us. We need an increased membership and more viable county organizations to help us defeat the bad proposals and to pass needed favorable legislation.

Our legislative agenda will be ready for submittal to the 1990 Legislature. We urge all public employee retirees to join in our membership efforts, and our doors have been opened to city, county and state employees covered by the system to join as associate membership.

John E. Aldridge, president of the Mississippi Retired Public Employees Association, emphasized the need of grassroots organization and increased numbers. He read from an article appearing in the Sept. 28 Wall Street Journal. The article stated the intent was to use state retirement trust funds to prompt social goals such as financing local housing, small business development, road building, jails and to finance other social programs that ought to come directly out of state

"Such use of retiree pension funds will lead to the bankcruptcy of our system with the same disastrous results as happened to social security," Aldridge said.

"These are not state tax dollars. It is up to us to see that it does not happen. Your membership and activity are the best safeguards we have." Annual membership dues are $5.

GENE TAYLOR
U. S. Congress

October, 1989

Dear Friends:

I'd like to say, "thank you" to all those who exercised their right to vote last week. With the help of many of you, we led the race for the 5th District Congressional seat with 42% of the votes.

As your next Congressman, I will represent all of South Mississippi by putting my legislative and business experience to work for you.

With your help and support by going to the polls to vote Tuesday, October 17, we can continue to make things better for the people of South Mississippi.

Sincerely yours,

Sene Gene Taylor

Squash, one of our oldest chunks, barely and briefly known native American foods. grew in abundance a few thousand years before the Pilgrims set foot on our shores; and, since the Indians cooked only the blossoms and ate the squash raw, the colonists called this newly-encountered edible 'squash" as an abbreviation of the Indian "askutesquash"-meaning "eaten raw."

The colonists quickly learned to cook and to like squash. And, all these years later, we are still cooking squash in various ways.

I enjoy tender, young squash of different varieties sliced thin and added to the appetizer tray, or sliced thin and added to green salad.

Time Out

By Dena Bisnette

Football season is already half over and Hancock County has done well for itself.

Hancock North Central clinched the division title last Friday and St. Stanislaus is still in the running for the play-offs. Two schools out of three on the top aren't bad. Let's hope it continues this week as the undefeated Hawks host Long Beach and St. Stanislaus, with only two defeats, hosts St. Martin. Bay High, which has not done as well as hoped this season, hosts Stone County.

In coast tennis action, Ann Johnson Culpepper, formerly of Bay St. Louis and now of Jackson, has won the women's open singles in the Bayou Bluff Singles Tournament. She defeated Dawn Minchew 6-3, 6-1.

In the women's 35 division of the same event, Ann Heitzmann of Bay St. Louis won by defeating Carol Little 6-1,

If you like to compete in track and field events, entries are now being accepted for the Gale Force Winds Track and Field Club Fall Classic Oct. 28 at Gulfport High's new allweather track. Registration at the site begins at 4:30 p.m. with a 5 p.m. start.

The three-mile walk, which is free to anyone who wishes to enter, is broken into 10-year age groups and the rest of the divisions, with fees varying according to number of events and club membership, are broken into youth up to 18, 19-29 and five-year divisions up to 85 and up. For registration information, contact Jim Rose at 863-1904 or 864-3278 or Sharon Ryan at 863-1816.

There's also a 5K coming up Saturday, the second annual Run into Autumn at Beach Park in Pascagoula. The race begins at 8 a.m. and will be followed by a one-mile run/

Call either Lindo Sullivan at 832-6071 or Carlos Robles at 875-0556 for more information.

Congratulations to Ron Kozak of Waveland, one of the top 24 fishermen in the Mississippi division of Operation Bass' 1989 series of qualifying tournaments. Kozak will go on to the Operation Bass $50,000 Red Man Regional Classic next month in Demopolis, Ark.

By the way, Kozak's haul for the six qualifying tournaments added up to 10 That must have included some nice fish.

We have a couple of college homecomings coming up soon. University of Southern Mississippi's is Oct. 21, with the game against Southwestern Louisiana beginning at 3 p.m. after a 2:40 p.m. court presentation. Mississippi State has a night game the same day, taking on Memphis State

The Ole Miss homecoming game is the following week, with the Rebels taking on the Vanderbilt Comodores. A little closer to home, Pearl River will take on the Co-Lin Wolves at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 28 after the 1989 court is presented at 2 p.m.

I sometimes attend the USM homecoming and have enjoyed the reunions before the game, but I have always noticed that I see more of my old friends at the stadium than at the alumni house. Even if the game isn't one of the season's best (and few homecoming games are), it's still worth the trip.

The Hancock County Recreation Association's Men's Basketball League and Men's 35-and-over Basketball League are accepting registration until Nov. 3, with both seasons set to open Nov. 5.

Any individuals or teams interested in participating should call 467-0470 after 6:30 p.m. or send their name, address and telephone number to 1017 Lincoln Drive, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520, so that an association member may contact them.

This Sunday's Cycles Plus Bicycle Club ride will be the Red Rooster, about 40 miles of flat to rolling terrain. Riders will meet at Bayview and US-90 in Pass Christian (Henderson Point) at 9 a.m.

Anyone wishing to submit items to Time Out may send them to The Sea Coast Echo at P.O. Box 2009, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520 or call Dena Bisnette at 467-5474. Our deadline is noon Tuesday for Thursday's paper.

By the way, we may not be able to use all of the photographs you lend us, but most of them can be suitably reproduced for newspaper use. And, in answer to the favorite question of the week, they don't have to be black-and-white

Pass defense may decide win in Hancock-Long Beach contest

BY DENA BISNETTE

Hancock North Central hosts Long Beach Friday, facing one of the few teams left on the schedule which might be capable of upsetting the Hawks.

Head Coach Irvin Favre said one of the Hawks' weaker points happens to be pass defense, and the Long Beach Bearcats are "an aerial show."

They average 30 passes per game and last week, their quarterback Bernie Parker completed 16 out of 21," he said.

This concerns us. At times we have not played very good pass defense," he added, point-ing out that the best performance in that area by the Hawks was their most recent, which was against St. Stanislaus,

"Long Beach lives and dies by the pass. Bernie gets in the shotgun formation a lot and he's real hard to get to. He gets rid of the ball before you get to him."

"We'll have to play good defense in the secondary. We'll have to play man-to-man very well or be in an area," Favre said. "No doubt about it. We have a challenge before us."

The Hawks are going into the game after clinching the district championship last week, but Favre is going back to his oneballgame-at-a-time approach.

"We played very well last week, but just because we're 6-0 doesn't mean we can sit back and wait for the play-offs," the coach said.

"We have a lot still left we can do--we could possibly have an undefeated season or go higher in the ranking," he pointed out. Hancock has fallen to eighth in the Associated Press Sportswriters' Poll this week. Last week, the Hawks were seventh in the

Another aspect of play Favre wants to perfect by the end of the season is his team's own passing game. The Hawks generally stick to the ground, but have tried some aerial offense.

"We have to do a better job of throwing the football. When we have thrown, we're just not successful enough. This concerns us because some team may load up on us one night and we may have to pass to win," he explained.

"This is a very tough situation and we can't get where we're complacent and not taking

The Coast Episcopal High School Raiders lost to Prentiss Christian Academy last Friday, 34-7. The Prentiss Saints led

The only Raider score came during the third quarter on a 22-yard pass from freshman

Jones completed 19 of 36 passes for 211 yards in the game. He needs only 14 yards more to throw for 1,000 yards this

SSC's playoff hopes rest on Friday win

It's coming down to the wire. Who's going to make it to the Division VIII 4-A playoffs?
Hancock North Central has virtually sealed up first place in the division with wins over St. Stanislaus, St. Martin and d'Iberville.

Of those, only two remain in contention for the second slot in the playoffs: St. Stanislaus and St. Martin. The winner of tomorrow night's contest in Bay St. Louis could well decide that question.

But the "history repeats itself' motif keeps lingering: can St. Stanislaus shake off their loss to HNC and rebound with the spirit to win a shot at the playoffs?

Last year, the Rock-A-Chaws seemed to lose their drive after their loss to the Hawks. This year, after their loss to the Hawks, the Rocks hit a slump in Slidell, falling to the Salmen Spartans.

"Our loss to Salmen High was disappointing, certainly," Rock head football coach Ken Lyons said, "But we have to put the loss behind us and concentrate on St. Martin."

The St. Martin Yellowjackets are 5-1 overall, and 1-1 in division. The Jackets have yet to face Long Beach.

St. Stanislaus is 4-2 overall, and 1-1 in division play. SSC still has to travel to d'Iberville.

A win by St. Martin would virtually assure their participation in the playoffs. A St. Stanislaus win would keep the Rocks' hopes alive for the slot.

"This game is a 'must win' for us in order to stay alive in the state playoff picture," Lyons Game time is 7:30 tomorrow night at St. Stanislaus Stadium.

Prentiss Academy is the Mississippi Private School Athletic Association South Class 1A Division Champion. Coach Jack Hutchison said the game was a lot closer than the score indicates. "We played a solid game both offensively and defensively, said Hutchison. The Raiders had 265 yards total offense. Outstanding players on offense were Tyrone Jones, Gib Werby, Billy Guice, Nathan Punter Jamie White had a good game averaging 40 yards per punt.

Guice and Hutson Lambert.

The Raiders' next game is this Saturday at St. Stanislaus field against Rosemark, Tenn. Kickoff is 7 p.m.

Don't overlook boat houses for bass

Almost every lake has some, and they're nearly always home to bass. Boat houses. Piers. Fishing docks and marinas.

"It's amazing how many fishermen ignore boat houses when they're fishing," says Johnson Outboards Pro Staff member Ricky Green, "but I think they offer some of the best cover available for bass. I finished second in a national tournament several years ago, simply by fishing boat houses for three days, and I only lost by five ounces. Boat houses and similar structures like piers and even rinas provide cover and shade for bass, says Green. The water around them is often slightly deeper, and in many cases food is more abundant.

"For me, the most productive boat houses are those located on points or in the backs of pockets and coves," explains the Johnson pro. "I don't like to fish a long row of boat houses. I'd much rather find one by itself because it seems to act just like other types of isolated cover in attracting bass."

Green feels most bass using boat houses are suspended fish, so he often uses topwater or medium-running lures like buzz baits and spinnerbaits to bring them to the surface. If he uses jigs or plastic worms, he chooses lures that are light and fall very slowly.

"Normally, outside pilings or corners hold the most bass," says Green, "so I usually fish these first. Then, I'll make a long cast that brings my lure along the entire side of a boat. house, in case the fish are further back or underneath the

"Sometimes, flipping is the only way you'll get fish to hit, and when that happens, you have to work very slowly and try to hit every corner. After you fish two or three boat houses, you should know how the bass are acting and be able to fish accordingly.

Often Green will idle slowly in front of a boat house watching his depthfinder before he begins casting. Many dock owners sink trees or bushes in front of a boat house to help attract crappie. These same brush piles are excellent places to catch bass, and readily show up on a good depthfinder. "Just work a buzz bait slowly over a brush pile and you'll find out pretty fast if a bass is present," laughs Green. "If a fish hits and misses, switch to a plastic worm. When you visit a different lake for the first time and don't know where to begin fishing, or if you can't determine a pattern on your favorite lake, try the boat houses. They're among the most reliable places I know to catch a

Freshman Rocks drop one to George County Rebels

The St. Stanislaus ninth grade Rock-A-Chaws lost their third game of the season to the George County Rebels last shown steady improvement as the season progresses. In last week's game, key players for the SSC ninth graders were Bryce

The freshman Rocks have Gex, Evan Morris and Kirk back Morris, and Andrew Gutierrez received for the twopoint conversion for the Rocks' eight points.

According to Rock freshman coach Chuck Genin, the game had its frustrations for the young team. "We moved the ball up and down the field," Genin said, but we could not put many points on the board. Fumbles and penalties really hampered our drives."

A fumbled Rock ball on the George County 20-yard line on a fourth and one situation really turned things around for the Rebels.

"Qverall, our team play has improved," Genin noted. "Our offense did well, as did our special teams. Our defensive line needs work, but our defense is hitting better."

Next up the freshman Rocks face Mercy Cross in Biloxi on Oct. 12. In preparing for the game, Genin said, "We have to cut back on mistakes. We get momentum, and penalties or fumbles takes away the gain."

Injuries also could take their toll on the Rocks. "We had several injuries that could hamper our efforts this week in preparing for Mercy Cross," Genin game. The final score was 42-18 in favor of St. John's, but the result doesn't reveal some outstanding play by some of the Junior Rock-A-Chaws.

Seventh grader Brandon Benoit showed he is ready to take up the slack left by the injured Peyton Schouest by filling in at tailback and possibly taking over the slot. Benoit returned a kick-off 83 yards and also scored the Rocks' two 68 yards.

The turning point in the game for the Eagles came on their ability to capitalize on a fumbled punt by scoring. The Eagles also took advantage of their passing game scoring on two big pass plays.

But overall, according to seventh and eighth grade Rock Coach Chuck Genin, the Junior Rocks played good ball.

"I was pleased with our offensive play," Genin said. Brandon Benoit really gave the crowd their money's worth for a

Canada geese released across Mississippi

Since June, approximately 4,200 giant Canada geese have been released across Mississippi, according to the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

The geese were given to Mississippi by wildlife agencies in Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Canada.

"The wildlife agencies in these states and Canada are cooperating with us in our multi-year project to establish resident flocks of giant Canada geese in many sections of Mississippi," said Richard Wells, MDWFP chief waterfowl biologist.

During the last three years, state wildlife, personnel released 7,000 Canada geese at Sardis, Grenada, Ross Barnett and Arkabutla reservoirs: the Mississippi River Delta; the Gulf Coast; and along the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

"In most areas, except at Sardis Reservoir, the hunting season on these geese has been closed until the birds can build their numbers into a viable population," Wells said.

Hunting Canada geese has been permitted on Sardis Reservoir for years, Each year a migrant flock of 4,500 Canada geese winters on Sardis Lake. "We have expanded the size of our Sardis refuge to allow adequate protection for the resident flock of geese we are trying to build up," Wells said. The Department of Wildlife,

Fisheries and Parks intends to continue acquiring Canada geese over the next three years to supplement local flocks already established and to set up new release sites across Mississippi.

May have had nothing but assisfavorable response and assistance fain sportsmen in areas where we have put these geese," Wells said,

Wells was optimistic that, in the future, sportsmen will have good hunting in addition to the recreational opportunities afforded bird watchers and photographers by these large

Baseball champions' reunion highlights Carey Homecoming

Areunion of the 1969 Nation- serve as master of ceremonies al NAIA Championship Baseball team will highlight Carey's Homecoming weekend, October 12-14. Players are returning to the Hattiesburg campus of the 83-year-old Baptist-related lib-eral arts college from states as far away as California and Connecticut.

An Old-Timers game on Saturday will match the former champions against this year's team. Following the game, alumni and friends will share a giant banana split from a "Banana Boat."

U.S. Congressman Mike Parker, WCC Class of 1970, will at the 12:30 luncheon in Wilkes Dining Hall.

Other activities will include a Crusader baseball game against USM on Friday at 5:30 p.m. and presentations of the fall theatre production, "The Sneeze," Oct. 12-13 at 8 p.m. each evening. The compilation of Anton Chekhov's one-act plays shows his comic genius. Tickets for the production in the O. L. Quave Theatre are $4.

"First Call," a contemporary Christian musical group, will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday to conclude the activities.

Trees

Where would man be without them?

BY D.C. HARVILL

Food, shelter, implements of construction and destruction, items of comfort and convenience, objects of religious veneration—for all of these man has depended on trees.

Perhaps nothing has been more important, yet less credited, in the advancement of the inches in diameter.

Under adverse conditions trees often do not adhere to the broad definition. In poor soils and areas of extreme cold, a tree with potential for gargantuan dimension may develop into no more than a shrub the size of a geranium.

among the deciduous trees that pears, cherries, etc. fall into this

GOOD ENOUGH FOR DRUIDS-This evergreen live oak in Bay St. Louis displays perfectly the graceful spredding branches characteristic of the species. The trees, native to the deep South, do not reach great heights but their trunks can exceed 25 feet in circumference. They are valued for their beauty and are protected by law in many cities, including Waveland. (Echo staff photo by D.C. Harvill) Botanists also clump trees into two categories that have nothing to do with their leaves human species than seemingly ubiquitous trees a fact that: remains as true today as it did when man first raised himself onto his rear haunches.

What would man have done through the eons without fruit and nuts for food; wood for shelter, furniture, boats, wagons, coois and to tuei his cooking and warmth? What?

Certainly everyone recognizes a tree when they see one but, unlike Gertrude Stein's assessment of a rose, a tree is not a tree is a tree is a tree.

What exactly are these allimportant members of the natural world? In the broadest definition, trees are woody plants that grow to a height of at least 15 feet, with a well developed crown-spred of branches-

Of course, in ideal conditions certain trees can attain their gargantuan potential. The redwoods and sequoias of California being two prime examples.

Specimens of sequoia are more than 300 feet tall and 30 feet in diameter at the base of the trunk. Redwoods reach and excess of 350 feet tall.

As perceptible as the change in seasons, trees can be clumped into two categories: evergreen and deciduous.

Evergreens, as their name implies, never loose all their leaves at once, so they are green year round. Pines, live oaks, hollies, cedars, and magnolias are examples of evergreens found in South Mississippi. Deciduous trees, on the other however-angiosperms mostly are deciduous and all but a few gymnosperms are evergreen. Angiosperms are flowering trees and bear seeds completely enclosed by a protective covering—fruit. Apples, oranges, peaches,

The gymnosperms have naked seeds that usually develop on the hard scale of a cone, such as those produced by Gymnosperms are not commonly depended upon for food as are the angiosperms but by some cultures they have been major sources of nutrition.

Most notably, pinyon pine seeds accounted for a major portion of the diets of several aboriginal cultures in the American Southwest.

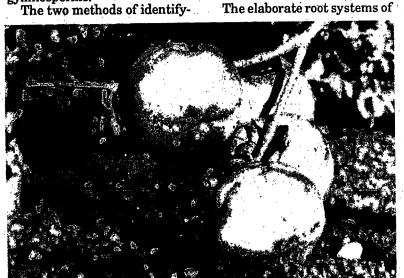

Another means of categorizing trees—into soft and hard woods-has more to do with the practical uses for their wood.

Hardwoods-oak, maple and hickory for example—are characterized by dense, tightgrained wood that is preferred for fine furniture, gun stocks and tool handles and other applications where tough durable materials are required.

Softwoods tend to be lighter in weight and more easily cut and shaped than the hardwoods. They are used extensively in various forms of construction: houses, boats, fence posts—the list is endless.

While the food and shelter directly derived from them are undeniably important, two other, less apparent functions performed by trees are even more so.

FRUIT OF AUTUMN—These persimmons are a cultivated oriental variety, but a smaller native type grows wild in the Southern woods. The bright orange fruit ripen in late September and October. They are sweetest after a frost. (Echo staff photo by D.C. Harvill)

Trees are important in religion and myth

BY D.C. HARVILL

Not all the attributes of trees lie within the realm of the physical, they also have been important in religion and mythology.

Christianity, of course, has its story about the tree of wis-dom whose fruit played such an important role in the expulsion of Adam and Eve from the Garden of Eden.

Trees were involved in pre-Christian religions in a more positive manner, however. Many pagan religions worshipped the trees themselves, the spirits thought to dwell within them or in groves

The Druids of pre-Christian Britain, were especially fond of oaks and worshipped in sacred

According to Norse Mythology, the god Odin and his brothers created man and woman from two trees, an ash and an elm.

At the center of the Norse world, there stood a great tree named Yggdrasil, whose branches spred across the whole world and whose roots reached into the realm of the Even today, Christian people have not totally divorced them-selves from the reverence of trees. Christmas trees and maypole festivals are two vestiges of the pagan regard for the forces trees represent.

Arboreal influence also can be found in some of the more physical aspects of religiontemples and cathedrals. The present word 'temple' is derived from Teutonic words meaning small woods—doubtlessly a reference to a sacred grove. When Christianity supplanted the old religions, the place of worship merely move indoors.

But even indoors, the trees could not be forgotten. The architectural characteristics of the world's great cathedralscolumns and arches—in most cases, are representative of the trunks and arching branches of the sacred groves.

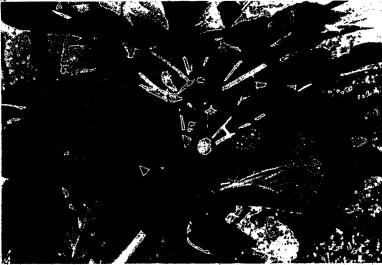

ing trees often run parallel, trees are effective deterents to erosion, helping hold vital topsoil in place.

Topsoil is the uppermost, fertile layer of soil that is necessary for plants to grow. Without it there could be no crops.

Topsoil erosion in some areas has been so severe, agriculture has been seriously limited. This trend can and has been successfully combatted by, instead of clearing all trees from farm land, allowing some to remain. the atmosphere assuring that the balance is proper for the continued existence of life. including man.

This same process also helps regulate the earth's temperature, since carbon dioxide in the atmosphere acts to trap the sun's radiation.

An increase in the amount of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere is directly responsible for the global warming trend known as the Greenhouse

DISCREET FRUIT—Figs are among the earliest fruit to be cultivated by man. And, if one believes classical sculpture, their leaves were also among the first articles of clothing. (Echo staff photo by D.C. Harvill)

Trees

Bu Sergeant Joyce Kilmer 1886-1918 (killed in action)

I think that I shall never see A poem lovely as a tree.

A tree whose hungry mouth is prest Against the earth's sweet flowing breast

A tree that looks at God all day, And lifts her leafy arms to pray;

A tree that may in Summer wear A nest of robins in her hair;

Upon whose bosom snow has lain; Who intimately lives with rain.

Poems are made by fools like me, But only God can make a tree.

In a very real sense, trees serve to anchor the atmosphere to the earth. During photosynthesis, the means by which they process carbon dioxide, water and chlorophyll (green pigment in leaves) into sugars, trees produce oxygen.

By absorbing carbon dioxide and emitting oxygen, they help regulate the two chemicals in Effect.

The additional carbon dioxide has been attributed to the increased use of fossil fuels and to the continued destruction of earth's forests—especially in the tropics.

But for trees, man could not have advanced to the position he has. More importantly, it is entirely possible that man could not exist at all without them.

NOT EVEN SAD-The willow, a small, deciduous tree common in moist soils throughout the country, is sometimes used to make furniture and baskets. (Echo staff photo by

Before Sam could answer, his neighbor hung up. Sam tried to re-dial, but he had another idea. He remembered that Joe had been working on his car the evening before and decided to pay Joe a visit in the morning. Sam arrived the next morning with a fine box of tools. "Can I give you a hand with that?" he

"Thanks," came Joe's reply. "I'm just about ready to give up and try something else. By the way, about your dog barking during the night, I'd appreciate it if you could keep him quiet so we can get some sleep!"

Sam smiled real big and said, "Joe, I don't have a dog."
Joe started turning red and trying to change the subject "What do you make with such a fine box of tools?" Sam replied, "Friends

What we need in this world our ours...is each other. "Let each one of us please his neighbor for that which is good, unto edifying." (Romans 15:2) With this thought in mind let me share a few values of friendship with you:

1. The value of assistance, Ecclesiates 4:7-10 2. The value of comfort, Ecclesiates 4:11 3. The value of defense, Ecclesiastes 4:12 We need to learn how to make friends instead of enemies, how to let our lives show forth Christ as the lights of the world.

(Matthew 5:13-16) When someone does something bad to me, instead of becoming like that person, thou also be like unto him."

imitate Christ. "Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God also in Christ forgave you." (Ephesians 4:32) 'For hereunto were ye called:

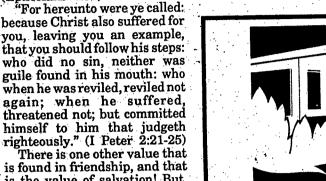

because Christ also suffered for you, leaving you an example, that you should follow his steps: who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth: who when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he suffered, threatened not; but committed himself to him that judgeth

There is one other value that is found in friendship, and that is the value of salvation! But, this salvation can only be found in the friendship of Jesus Christ. "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends, if ye do the things that I command you."

Before you give up and try something else, why not try being a friend of Jesus. As you learn to imitate Christ, you will find out that making friends is of greater value than making

Reflections On Life:

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Contradictions of the tongue

"This is how all will know you for my disciples: by your love for one another" (John 13:15). That powerful statement can be every bit as damning as it is beautiful. It is beautiful only insomuch as it is realized in life. If not realized, it is a condemnation by fatal absence and fatal flaw in one's life.

Love, which must ultimately be translated into deeds, begins in our thoughts and shows itself first in our words. Here is the first battleground where we either set the stage for great spiritual exploits, or where we surrender to the demons of gossip, slander, ill-wishing and verbal abuse. It is always extremely distressing, painful and repulsive to hear someone slander another or gossip about another, particularly when the gossiper is supposedly close to the victim. Far worse is the case where the gossiper either does not own up to his/her sins of gossip, or does not recognize the contradiction between gossip and our Christian pledge of loving each other. James reprimands us in chapter 3 of his letter for using our tongue to praise God and equally to curse one another.

Let's face the real enemy here. For the most part, the real enemy in our midst is not the hard-core gossiper who is thoroughly evil and ill-wishing in intent. Such gossipers, unfortunately, do comprise a sizable minority and know no greater pleasure than unsavory gossip, vicious rumors and character assassination. The real enemy, however, both by overwhelming number and by devious concealment, are the gossips of the closet kind, whether in fact or in fancy, who somehow believe that God and humanity are being served by the frenzied pursuit of their devious craft.

There are the gossips who are so engrossed in the passion of their newsmongering that they unwittingly say things in the presence of others which betray what they have been gossiping about in the secrecy of their dens and retreats.

Little do they know how often they tip their hand simply because it is so difficult to maintain a network of lies and deception. With great pains and perseverance, we can get the truth together. However, we can never get deception and lies straight.

Closet gossips are the scoopers who must break a story first, at least to those who mean the most to them. Confidentiality and professional secrecy take a back seat to their insatiable drive to be on top of everything and to have the inside dope on everyone.

It does not take a sleuth to see and understand that such people are frightfully insecure, and that, in order to remove their insecurity, they need to feel in control through news and gossip seizure, management and dissemination. That much of their gossip destroys confidentiality does not seem to bother them. That some of what they say is a measure of slander does not seem to disturb them. That their compulsive gossip grieves others, tarnishes their reputation and makes their life much more difficult, does not stir their consciences. Even more disturbing is the fact that closet gossips are literally everywhere. No sexual. racial, ethnic group, no profession or vacation is immune from this scourge which says, "I love you," then inflicts incalculable hurt with the same tongue: There is no human prototype. whom we can trust enough to pattern ourselves after. We are all so defective that we must look only to him of whom the prophet said: "A bruised reed he shall not break, and a smoldering wick he shall not quench" (Isaiah 42:3).
